

Study Title: Impact of the Pandemic on Behavioral Health of People with Intellectual and/or Developmental Disabilities (IDD)

Principal Investigator: Jessica Solomon Sanders, MD

COMIRB No: 21-2546

Version Date: 3/4/21

You are being asked to be in this research study to help us learn about mental health challenges, and changes, during the Covid 19 pandemic.

If you join the study, you will fill out an online survey.

This study is designed to learn more about the mental health challenges and changes of adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities during the Covid 19 pandemic.

Possible discomforts or risks include: none. There may be risks the researchers have not thought of. This study is not designed to benefit you directly.

Every effort will be made to protect your privacy and confidentiality by maintaining a confidential database that does not include your name or identifying information.

You have a choice about being in this study. You do not have to be in this study if you do not want to be.

The data we collect will be used for this study but may also be important for future research. Your data may be used for future research or distributed to other researchers for future study without additional consent if information that identifies you is removed from the data.

You may have questions about your rights as someone in this study. If you have questions, you can call COMIRB (the responsible Institutional Review Board) at (303) 724-1055.

By completing this survey, you are agreeing to participate in this research study.

The link to participate in the study is: <https://redcap.link/covidimpact>

You could also scan the QR code below (take a picture with your phone camera), which links to the survey.

Thank you for your participation!

