OPEN HOUSE: FARLEY HEALTH POLICY CENTER

Imagine a world in which our leaders consider the best quality evidence when designing the health policies that impact us all. The Farley Health Policy Center offers expertise in translating your research for policy and decision makers.

Stop by our offices on the fourth floor of the Anschutz Health Sciences Building to meet us, enjoy some light refreshments, and see what the Farley Center can do for you!

- Researchers: we can help you design and conduct policy-relevant research or translate your expertise to inform policy change.
- Learners (students/residents/fellows): we offer opportunities to develop your policy and research skills and contribute to health policy projects.
- State agencies and community partners: we lend skills and expertise to help you understand and address complex health issues.

The Farley Health Policy Center is a team of interprofessional policy experts, educators, and learners affiliated with the Anschutz Medical Campus. We work on health policy issues and systems reform to promote whole health for all.
