

Eugene S. Farley, Jr. Health Policy Center
UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO ANSCHUTZ MEDICAL CAMPUS

FRIDAY'S FEATURES

ISSUE 072222

Editor: Linda Niebauer

<https://medschool.cuanschutz.edu/farleyhealthpolicycenter>

NEWS, ANNOUNCEMENTS, CELEBRATIONS

Dr. Ally Kempe, professor of pediatrics, announced she will step down as director of the Adult and Child Center for Outcomes Research and Delivery Science (ACCORDS) once her predecessor has been named. Dr. Myra Muramoto, chair of family medicine, will lead the national search for Dr. Kempe's replacement.

CU Summit Focuses on Strategies for Addressing Suicide by Firearm among Active-Duty Military Service Members took place last week and was hosted by the CU Anschutz Center for Combat Medicine and Battlefield (COMBAT) Research and the CU Anschutz Firearm Injury Prevention Initiative and brought together military and civilian stakeholders from across the United States to share research, strategies, and messaging for addressing and preventing firearm suicide in the military.

Just One Extremely Determined Person Can Change the World is a commentary by Kate McEvoy posted on the Milbank Memorial Fund who tells Julie Beckett's story and how she launched a campaign of lived experience that started with her congressperson. As the disability movement reminds us, "nothing about us, without us." Julie passed away in May.

The Power of Presence is last week's newsletter from Ben Miller who espoused the benefits of unplugging, being present, and enjoying time with Hiding in Plain Sight: Youth Mental Illness is a documentary about the mental health crisis among youth in America and premieres on PBS stations nationwide June 27th and 28th at 7PM MT. Ken Burns is the executive producer and the documentary gives voice to the experiences of young people who struggle with mental health challenges and focuses on the importance of awareness and empathy.

Medicaid Leadership Exchange Podcast Series features discussions with

Medicaid leaders on priority topics related to leading state agencies including insights into strategies that have/haven't worked straight from Medicaid leaders themselves. The series was made possible with support from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

Opinion: The reality is the state of children's mental health is getting worse is a commentary by Jena Hausmann, CEO and president of Children's Hospital Colorado, and Dr. Ron-Li Liaw, chief of mental health for Children's Hospital Colorado, in The Colorado Sun a year after Children's Hospital Colorado declared a state of emergency for youth mental health. They report that the state of emergency for youth mental health has only gotten worse.

The COVID-19 Pandemic: The story is far from over and ever-changing is this week's commentary from Dr. Jon Samet who reviews the evolving pandemic story.

Guns aren't going away. What if we treated gun violence that way? is a post on Grid by Jonathan Lambert about how a public health approach can reduce firearm-related injury and death.

Opinion: A Colorado foundation gives it all away – now – to battle the climate crisis is a commentary in The Colorado Sun by Jordana Barrack about how the Colorado-based Mighty Arrow Family Foundation decided to donate the entirety of its fund and sunset the foundation by 2040.

New 9-8-8 crisis hotline goes live is a story covered by Mekialaya White for CBS Colorado who interviewed Dr. Emmy Betz about the functionality and benefits of the new hotline.

Diving right in from residency to private practice is an interview with Dr. Carolynn Francavilla Brown, private clinician in Colorado by Carol Vargo, director of the AMA's physician practice sustainability, in which they discuss the steps Dr. Francavilla Brown took to start her private practice shortly after residency and how other residents can prepare themselves for private practice setting in the future.

Psychiatrist of Aurora theater shooter speaks out: 'It's impossible to spot these mass shooters in advance.' is a post in The Denver Gazette by Carol McKinley who talked with Dr. Carol Fenton, the psychiatrist who treated James Holmes, the Aurora theater shooter from 10 years ago.

Opinion: My patients are suffering from climate change is a perspective piece in The Colorado Sun by Dr. Jennifer Camello, a family medicine resident, who talks about how the warming planet is exacerbating conditions that make people sick.

POLICY EFFORTS

Embedding Equity into 988: Imagining a New Normal for Crisis Response is a policy brief from the Kennedy-Satcher Center for Mental Health Equity in partnership with Beacon Health Options to establish concrete recommendations towards equitable and effective administration of 988.

Tribal Mental Health Gets New Focus, But Equity Barriers Remain is a story on Bloomberg Law by Ian Lopez about how the federal government is trying to direct more money toward policies intended to help the unique population that has long suffered from mental health challenges.

The Colorado Multi-Payer Collaborative: A Framework for Integration of Whole-Person Care is an issue brief posted on the Milbank Memorial Fund by Pam Curtis and colleagues about a framework for primary care practices seeking to provide more advanced levels of care, as well as guidance for payer organizations migrating toward advanced payment models that pay for value delivered through integrated, comprehensive, whole-person, population-based

WHO highlights urgent need to transform mental health and mental health care is a post on the WHO site that announced the WHO's release of its largest review of world mental health since the turn of the century, making a plea for transformation via a comprehensive action plan.

Court decision endangers addiction and mental health coverage for 130 million Americans is an opinion piece on The Hill by Ryan Hampton about the devastation caused by health insurers denying coverage to those who need it most.

RESEARCH, DATA, EVALUATION

Research to Move Policy – Using Evidence to Advance Health Equity for Substance Use Disorders is an opinion piece in the New England Journal of Medicine by Dr. Carlos Blanco and colleagues that addresses how racial and ethnic disparities in treatment access and outcomes among patients with substance use disorders have widened despite substantial efforts to address the epidemic of drug-overdose deaths in the United States.

How Community Health Centers Are Serving Low-Income Communities during the COVID-19 Pandemic Amid New and Continuing Challenges is an issue brief on the Kaiser Family Foundation site by Jessica Sharac and colleagues that examines how the pandemic has affected health center patients and services, as well as highlights the ongoing challenges health centers and their patients face.

Non-Judgmental, Patient-Centered Care Is Most Effective when Talking with

Families about Firearm Safety is a story on the CU Anschutz School of Medicine site by Rachel Sauer about recent research that shows listening and respecting patients' values are vital to creating plans for safer firearm storage.

100 Million People in America Are Saddled with Health Care Debt is a post on the Kaiser Health News site by Noam N. Levey about how debt is no longer a "bug in our system" but rather one of the main products. The burden is forcing families to cut spending on food and other essentials and forcing them from their homes and into bankruptcy.

Suicide among Males across the Lifespan: An Analysis of Differences by Known Mental Health Status is a research brief on the American Journal of Preventive Medicine by Dr. Katherine A. Fowler and colleagues with an analysis that compares suicide characteristics among males with and without known mental health conditions by age group to inform prevention.

American gun violence has immense costs beyond the death toll, new studies find is an NPR story by Eric Westervelt about two new studies that use federal health care and hospital data to underscore how the repercussions from firearm deaths and injuries are deeper, wider, and far costlier than previously known.

Wyoming struggles for answers amid growing suicide rate is an ABC News story by Trevor Ault and colleagues about how suicides in the cowboy state double the national average.

Do States with Easier Access to Guns have More Suicide Deaths by Firearms? is an issue brief posted on the Kaiser Family Foundation site by Heather Saunders that uses the CDC Wonder database and the State Firearm Law Database to examine the association between suicide deaths by firearm and the number of state-level firearm law provisions.

School-Based Health & Medical-Legal Partnerships is a fact sheet developed by the National Center for Medical Legal Partnership that describes the value of school-based health centers with MLPs for patients.

Transgender Health & Medical-Legal Partnerships is a fact sheet developed by the National Center for Medical Legal Partnership that describes the value of partnering with legal services to address social and structural issues that impede quality health care for transgender people.

Baby Boomers consider mental health days more important than Gen Z does is a post on The Hill by Gianna Melillo about how mental health days are not long-term solutions, but they can help you identify a better strategy for more serious problems or just relax after a period of heightened work stress.

Eugene S. Farley, Jr. Health Policy Center
UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO ANSCHUTZ MEDICAL CAMPUS

SUBSCRIBE TO FRIDAY'S FEATURES