ON OUR MINDS

Overturing Roe: Implications for Medical Education, Training, and Practice is a commentary from the Farley Health Policy Center about the implications of last week's ruling by the Supreme Court that struck down the precedent set by Roe vs. Wade in 1973.

ON A LIGHTER NOTE

The Farley Center had the good fortune of hosting Dr. Sina Haj Amor, a family physician from Tunisia, this week. What good fun. If Tunisia wasn't on our bucket lists before...it surely is now. We learned so much from this delightful, bright, energetic woman who spent the last year in this country as a fellow in the Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowship Program at the Rollins School of Public Health at Emory University. She is a force to reckon with...simply the best of the best! Also our partners at Salud Family Health Centers in Ft. Lupton and at AF Williams Family Medicine Center spent time with Sina during her visit. She was so impressed with how we all seem like family and said she yearns for such relationships and camaraderie.
