KEY TAKEAWAYS

How teaching learners benefits you, too.

1

Sharpens Skills

Teaching others reinforces and hones communication, leadership, and clinical reasoning skills.

2

Reignites Joy and Motivation

Learners' enthusiasm is contagious. Supporting their growth can reduce stress and boost well-being.

3

Affords Help with Clinical Duties

Learners can support clinical workflow and documentation, easing busy schedules.

4

Attracts and Inspires Future Colleagues

Clinical teaching can create informal recruitment opportunities and spark interest in your specialty.

5

Shows Leadership and Commitment

Being an educator signals commitment to lifelong learning, professional growth, and better patient care.
