We also want to thank Javari McGill and Alice Aragon for joining us to share about these programs that allows for eligible community members, patients, their families, and household members. There are several programs to know about, but a few highlights are their programs that: Prevent electricity shut off; Notify people of planned electricity shutdowns due to weather conditions; And a program that saves on cost of energy bills if a household member has medical condition that requires electricity.

Note: The Medical Assistance Programs require a completed and signed form (ENGLISH | SPANISH]. It must be signed by an MD, nurse practitioner or physician's assistant and contain their license number.

Speaker Bios:

Javari McGill (he/him) Strategy & Performance Consultant – Customer Policy and Regulatory Compliance for Xcel Energy.
Javari's daily role is in program management, outreach, strategy, and regulatory work on the Customer Policy and Regulatory Compliance team. He has been at Xcel Energy for seven years and on the Customer Policy and Regulatory Compliance team for three years.

Alice Aragon (she/her) Affordability, Equity and Personal Account Specialist, Red Truck Team, Excel Energy.
As a team member of Xcel Energy for five years, with two years in her current role, Alice has cultivated a deep passion for her profession. Her experience has taught her the importance of delivering personalized support to customers, addressing their unique needs through programs like Energy Assistance and Medical Exemptions, and establishing payment arrangements when necessary. Sometimes, the role requires simply being available to listen and offer understanding. The added responsibility of RED Truck events across Colorado has expanded her skill set and proven rewarding. A lifelong resident of Pueblo, Colorado, Alice is dedicated to her role at Xcel Energy and looks forward to a future that includes retirement in the town she loves, where her two adult children are based.
