#Humansoffamilymedicine

“Our healthcare system is terrible at baseline and then exponentially worse for people of color, especially if they do not speak English, are from outside the US, undocumented, disabled, LGBTQ+, or have a combination of all those identities. As a physician, it's our job to advocate for what's right and to try our best to protect our patients from harm created by our healthcare system. And I don't mean patient safety harm only. I also mean interpersonal harm, financial harm, psychological harm, and any other harm they are at risk of experiencing due to their medical care. We owe it to our patients and to ourselves as future patients to work towards fixing the inequities.” -Dr. Alicia Wong MD/MPH

NETWORKING

Family Medicine Resident Mentoring

For students interested in resident and/or faculty mentors, this is an informal program with the hope of being mutually beneficial to all parties involved. The goal is to help med students have a better understanding of family physicians and to help students succeed whether they decide family medicine is the right specialty for them or not. Mentorship can range from help with personal statements, application preparation, and more!

We ask that mentors and mentees meet at least once a semester. Please fill out the quick form below so that we can best pair you with a good fit. If you are interested, sign up here.

For more information, questions, or concerns, please contact Cleveland Piggott, MD.
