About the Role:

We are currently looking for a Physical Therapist to join our Littleton team! This opportunity is open to new graduates as well as experienced clinicians.

FPC offers patient-centered, one-on-one care, clinical mentorship, opportunities for career and education growth, and a focus on providing exceptional patient outcomes and patient experience.

We've built partnerships with top residency, fellowship, and continuing education programs across orthopedics, women's health and manual therapy and collaborate with our therapists to build customized education and development plans to help them excel as professionals while expanding the practice's ability to serve our patients and communities.

- We work to understand our therapists' professional goals from day one and provide them with pathways to grow in their clinical skills and leadership abilities through investment in continuing education.
- We grow the practice by building new treatment areas around therapist skills and interests.

Clinicians at our Littleton clinic will see patients with a variety of orthopedic and vestibular conditions, making it an interesting environment in which to hone your clinical skills. We are interested in expanding our women's health services at this location for clinicians with relevant experience or a desire to learn.

Compensation & Benefits:

- Salary range starting at $75,000, and increasing based on experience
- Bonus structure
- Company match on 401k
- Flexible schedule (4x10, 8x5, etc.)
- Competitive benefits including:
 - Paid sick leave
 - Paid vacation time
 - Funding toward health insurance
- Mentorship time to train and improve patient care

Essential Functions:

- Delivering high quality patient care to help patients reduce pain & other symptoms and achieve their functional goals
- Interacting with patients positively, in a way that helps them understand their plan of care and gives them confidence in their ability to achieve their goals

- Completing medical documentation timely, thoroughly, and accurately
- Collaborating with other clinic staff to provide optimal patient outcomes

Minimum qualifications:

- Doctoral Degree in Physical Therapy from a school accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Physical Therapy Education (CAPTE)
- Full-time (~40 hours per week)

About Functional Performance:

Functional Performance Physical Therapy Center (FPC) is an outpatient physical therapy clinic with 4 locations across the greater Denver area. We're on a mission to make our patients healthy, and we're looking for talented people who are passionate about helping patients navigate their healthcare journey from beginning to end. Below are a few principles that guide our approach to the practice:

1. Patient care as our primary responsibility
2. Working together as a team to achieve our goals
3. Investing in the education of our providers
4. Understanding and addressing the diverse health needs of communities we serve

We partner with several top-20 PT schools and other PT schools to host PT students for their clinical rotations to support the continued growth of the PT profession by providing our senior therapists with the opportunity to impart their skills and knowledge to the next generation of therapists.
